

Therapist Profile Page - Designer Field Inventory

Last verified against the app: 2026-05-09.

The public profile page is not built yet. The dashboard fields are built. This document tells the designer what data can appear on a public therapist profile and what is optional.

This is not a layout spec. The sections below are only grouped so the inventory is easy to scan. They are not a suggested page order.

For repeatable items, the designer only needs to see the shape of one item. The max count is included so the design can handle repetition.

Status labels used in this document

Status	Meaning
Always shown	Every public profile should have this.
Optional	The therapist may leave this blank. Hide it or use a graceful empty state.
Conditional	Show this only when the related field or privacy toggle allows it.
Never public	This exists in the app, but it must not appear on the public profile.

Public profile rules

Rule	What the designer needs to know
Email address	Never show the therapist's email address. The public action is an "Email me" button.
Phone number	If the therapist turns off "Show my phone number on my public profile," do not show the phone number and do not show any button that links to a phone call.
Free intro phone call	This can be shown as an offer when enabled. A phone-call button still requires a visible phone number.
Street address	Every profile shows at least city, state, and ZIP for each public location. Street address is shown only when that location's toggle is on.
Map links	Do not show a map. If a location shows its street address, it can have a "View on map" link to Google Maps for that street address.
Hidden street address	If the therapist hides the street address, show city, state, and ZIP only. Do not show a map link for that location.
Specialties	The therapist's top five. These are chosen from their Areas of Expertise. Use this exact label.
Areas of Expertise	The full list of topics the therapist works with. A therapist can choose up to 20. Use this exact label.
Services	A therapist can choose up to 20 services.
Empty sections	Most profile sections are optional. The design should handle missing sections cleanly.
